All Parts Are Welcome: Using the Internal Family Systems Model with Individuals and Partners with (or without) Trauma History

with Deborah Klinger, LMFT, CEDS-S

Come explore the Internal Family System — a non-pathologizing and collaborative approach that understands individuals as made up of vulnerable and protective parts, which function as a system within a system. Learn relevant IFS concepts and system tools to facilitate self-understanding and healing, particularly when trauma is involved, regardless of one's therapeutic orientation.

Deborah Klinger, MA, LMFT, CEDS-S, is in private practice in Durham. She is a seasoned presenter and an AAMFT Approved Supervisor, certified Internal Family Systems Therapist, Eating Disorder Specialist and Phoenix Rising Yoga Therapy practitioner. She combines DBT, IFS, Sensorimotor Psychotherapy, and EMDR for a holistic, body-mind approach to healing.
